State rehabilitation councils were established by federal law to provide community input to vocational rehabilitation agencies.

The Rehabilitation Council of Texas (RCT) mission is to advise and partner with the vocational rehabilitation agency to ensure Texans with disabilities have access to an effective vocational rehabilitation service delivery system leading to employment.

RCT, the Texas Workforce Commission and the Texas Workforce Solutions-Vocational Rehabilitation Services (TWS-VRS) partner in a variety of ways, including:

- ★ Evaluating customer satisfaction with services provided by TWS-VRS.
- ★ Helping develop the state plan and state goals and priorities.
- ★ Evaluating the effectiveness of the vocational rehabilitation program.
- ★ Reviewing and commenting on policy.
- ★ Facilitating public hearings.
- ★ Reviewing the effectiveness of and customer satisfaction with providers and the employment customers obtain.
- ★ Making recommendations to TWS-VRS to improve vocational rehabilitation services.
- ★ Obtaining public feedback and opinion on the vocational rehabilitation program.
